Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1762, entitled:

An Act exempting cash registers accounting machines and the appurtenances thereto loaned leased hired or conditionally sold from levy sale on execution or distress for rent

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question

Shall the bill pass finallly?

Mr. HOLMES. Mr. Speaker and members of House, this is another of those exemptions which we opposed the other night. I can see no reason why cash registers and accounting machines should be exempt from an attachment for rent. They can place these cash registers and accounting machines in any business place at the present time by only asking the owner of the building to waive his right to attach these machines for rent, and I think we should not, as I said the other night, take away from the owner of the property the right he now has and give it to the different companies that sell this kind of machine.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO MAKE BILL SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I move that consideration of this bill be made a special order of business for next Monday evening at nine o'clock.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion is not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOLMES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill is of great importance, especially to the members of the rural communities, and I hope that everyone has taken this bill and studied it very carefully. I took it last night and studied it carefully myself, and I am sure I am not able to make out clearly just what some of the terms used really mean. On page 2 of the bill it says, among other things, that any one having a bludgeon shall be guilty of a felony and so forth. I looked carefully to see what the word bludgeon meant and I see that it is a short stick with a knob on the end. I cannot see why any one having a pick handle or an axe handle or a baseball bat would not be guilty under the provisions of this bill. On page 3 relative to the length of rifles and guns it says: "Having a barrel less than 24 inches." We all know that the Colt people manufacture a gun shorter than that. After a careful examination I do not know whether that clause is intended to include boys' air rifles or not. We must acknowledge that the intent of the bill is alright, and that it has been studied and has been drawn with a great deal of care, but I cannot help but feel that this bill in its entirety is strictly un-American. We cannot lose sight of the fact that a great proportion of the State of Pennsylvania is absolutely without any police protection, and if we pass this bill, taking away from the country people their only means of defense, it will give an invitation to the criminals, not only of this State, but from other states to come out and make a rich haul, because they will know the people of the community have no means with which to defend themselves.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, whether this Senate Bill No. 688 is not a bill that has the endorsement of the Crimes Commission?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I presume you are all interested in my answer to that interrogation. This bill is one of the series of bills that was prepared by the Crimes Commission, an official body appointed by the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth to study the question of crimes in the Commonwealth for the protection of the general citizenry of the State.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as a result of the enlightening answer given us by our honorable friend from Philadelphia, I desire to say that it seems to me that it would be a great mistake for this House to blindly kill this bill. There is at the present time in the State of Pennsylvania, and particularly in the large cities, a serious effort to check crime. We have had appointed an exceptionally able commission to make an investigation of the criminal laws of the State of Pennsylvania for the express purpose of trying to stem the onward rush of criminal tendencies in this Commonwealth. It seems to me that it would be a great error on the part of this House if we now, without having a thorough and complete knowledge of this bill, and because there are certain members of this House who have possibly some pressure brought to bear upon them by persons who are opposed to the enactment of the bill, kill it on the floor of the House, without the deliberation and consideration that it deserves and which its sponsorship demands. I think, therefore, that we should reconsider the request in the form of a motion on the part of Mr. Sterling to make this bill a special order of business so that in the meantime an opportunity may be had for the members to acquaint themselves with its provisions and purposes, and perhaps after they have had an opportunity to study it, it will be acceptable to them.

MOTION TO POSTPONE.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. CHAS. C. A. BALDI. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SPANGLER and Mr. C. C. A. BALDI, JR.

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. THOMAS J. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, permit me to call your attention to one provision of this bill and that is, that it would make it a felony for any householder to have firearms and some other kinds of weapons in their possession unless they were registered. Evidently it would be a very difficult proposition to enforce a law of that kind. We have so many laws now that are hard enough to enforce without adding to them. I therefore think we should vote this bill down.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I will not in my discussion of this bill, deal with the technical provisions in it, because I take the position that no matter how onerous, no matter how burdensome, no matter how restricting any provision of this bill may be, it ought to pass this House for the sake of the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

As I sense the House, there has been developed here this morning an equation, and that equation is this: It is whether or not the bandits, the racketeers, the criminals, the murderers, if you like, shall have the special consideration of this House, or whether or not the sportsmen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall go on undisturbed in plying their sportsmanship. I anticipated that equation and I consulted Webster's dictionary, and I find among the definitions there the follows: "Sportsman. One who in sport is fair and generous, a good loser and a graceful winner." I ask you members of this Commonwealth whether or not for the sake of the dignity of this Commonwealth, for the sake of the lives of the citizens of this Commonwealth, for the sake of the reputation of the Commonwealth of which we all must be proud, you will permit crime to continue the use of firearms as it has prevailed and progressed merely because a registration of a firearm is required? How many of you resent the mandatory law for the registration of automobiles; how many of you resent the mandatory law for the registration of births and deaths? These are registrations that are made of the property and of the lives of the citizens of this Commonwealth and I deem it just as important that a registration of firearms should be required by the laws of this Commonwealth. I have here, picked up at random, newspapers printed and published within the last two days. I find on almost alternate columns of these papers descriptions of crimes committed by firearms. I don't for a moment go into the question of the use of firearms in the commission of crimes of one individual against another, but I talk principally of the use of firearms by the reckless, the careless and the murderous bandit.

In Chicago, as late as yesterday, a group of men such as this bill is intended to work against, actually had the irreverence to step into a house of worship and at the point of firearms stood up against the wall those worshippers that they found there, and robbed them at the threat of their lives. I ask you sportsmen whether you want to carry upon your shoulders the blood of the citizens of this Commonwealth or whether you still want to chase the hare because that gives you pleasure. If that equation does not eradicate from your minds your objection to this measure, then my judgment of this House is wrong. Now, I know my judgment of the House is not wrong. I know my judgment of this House is right. This is not a question, in my opinion, of what my constituency may want where the mere question of the inconvenience of registration is involved. There is no great principle or policy involved in this registration. It is merely a question as to whether or not he who wants to use a firearm will comply with the law and register. There is no limitation placed on the use of firearms but this bill merely requires a registration of that firearm. Now, gentleman of the House, I appeal to you; the large cities of this Commonwealth are suffering from a contagion, a contagion that we should be proud to exterminate. Every large city in the United States has its eyes on Philadelphia, and I dare say Allegheny County and every other large city of the Commonwealth also has this situation in which we now find ourselves. I submit to you, with all the force that I have, that as proud Pennsylvanians we owe it to the people back home not to permit them to selfishly answer this question for us, but to courageously stand up and vote "aye" on this bill for the good and the benefit of this Commonwealth.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the city of Philadelphia needs this bill. You people from the country gave us prohibition; you gave us with prohibition innumerable troubles. Now having brought these troubles upon us help us to cure the troubles you brought to us. In Philadelphia we had a grand jury sitting for months investigating the problem of crime and gang warfare. Prohibition has brought to the large cities gangs of the worst kind; gangs—

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. BALDRIGE. The gentleman is talking on prohibition, he is not talking on the firearms bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the merits of the bill.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if it seems to hurt the gentleman from Allegheny to have me speak on prohibition as the cause that brought about the trouble and made the necessity for this bill, I won't argue that way. But, as the result of something, there has been formed gang after gang that knows of no courts to settle its difficulties; that knows of no place to adjust its differences, except by violence. It is not uncommon today in the city of Philadelphia, and in other large cities, to find an automobile going up and down highways loaded with men with a couple of automatic guns or machine guns extending out of the side of that automobile. Last August, August of last year, two men standing on a public highway in the city of Philadelphia, peacefully and quietly, were shot down by a machine gun. And a grand jury was appointed by one of our judges, and that grand jury and the district attorney worked for eight or nine months trying to find out who the murderers were. But of all the witnesses called in, not one dared to open their mouths because they were afraid of the gang that was back of the men who were in that automobile. Is that right, men? Is it right for citizens of this Commonwealth, peacefully and quietly standing on the sidewalk, to be mowed down by criminals with automatic guns and machine guns? Are you men going to take from the City of Philadelphia the protection we should have by terminating the possession of such machine guns in the hands of criminals? Now members of the House, the bill may be stringent; the bill may have teeth in it; the bill may have plenty of teeth, but let us save a life even if the rabbits in the field must escape.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think I stand in a somewhat different position than the other gentlemen from Philadelphia, particularly Mr. Sterling. I do not advocate the passage of this bill because, and solely because, it is sponsored by the Crimes Commission. I am opposed, and I have been opposed, to a large number of the bills sponsored by the Crimes Commission because I think that they are unfair. With respect to this bill I want to say that I think it is the only bill that the Crimes Commission has formulated that strikes at the cause of crime and if you give me legislation that will do away with crime, that will strike at the root of crime, then for that bill I will stand in favor.

Now, members of the House, perhaps the first argument that ought to be made to this House on this bill is not a question of banditry, because I think every man and woman in this House believes that banditry should be struck down. But are you familiar with the fact that there was an amendment to this bill? On page eighteen of this bill a provision was inserted that excepted the sportsmen of Pennsylvania so that those who hold hunters' licenses and are over the age of 21 have a right, and I will read you that part with your permission, to carry pistols and revolvers. The section reads as follows: "The provisions of this act in so far as the same relate to pistols or revolvers shall not apply to persons over the age of twenty-one years holding hunters' licenses of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Such persons shall be entitled to have and possess pistols or revolvers, to carry the same openly when and where hunting and to transport the same to and from the place of hunting for the purpose of hunting."

There is a further provision that the hunter shall be over twenty-one years of age and shall have a certificate of good character and to the effect that he has never been convicted of a crime of violence. I say to you, ladies and gentlemen of the House, if that is not a fair provision for the hunters and the sportsmen of the State, then I know not what further provision you could ask us to support. I am amazed at the position of the sportsmen. I hold a letter which I shall not read at length, but this is a letter from Grover C. Ladner, Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Isaac Walton League, and he concludes that letter by saying, "I therefore take pleasure in writing you that the amendment as submitted to me yesterday at Harrisburg is satisfactory to the sportsmen and their opposition to the bill is withdrawn."

I have another letter which has been handed to me from the Remington Arms Company stating that the bill is satisfactory to the company. This is a company that manufactures firearms and they say that they are satisfied with the provisions of the bill.

Members of the House, I am not going to bore you, just a few more words and I shall close. First, I wish to say this to you, and I say it from the bottom of my heart: This bill may hurt, it may hurt you individually, it may burden you, it may put you to a lot of inconvenience, but for God's sake stop banditry, stop men from carrying machine guns in automobiles and mowing down the citizens of our community. Curb banditry, curb murder; you can do it by this bill; and I say to you in all fairness that we have inserted in this bill every provision for the protection of the sportsmen.

Members of the House, I am frank to say that I know that speeches, words, oratory will not change the minds of some of you. This is not party legislation; this is not a matter of party politics; this is a matter where every man stands on his own conscience and I say with a clear conscience, and you ought to be able to say with a clear conscience, "I am going to suffer the inconvenience of having to register my firearms; I am going to suffer the inconvenience every five years of taking out a license; I am going to do that so I can protect the citizens of the larger cities," so that I can go back home to my constituents and say to them, "I may not have done as you wanted me to do on this particular measure, but, thank God! I have protected you and human life."

Mr. EDWARD BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. I will sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EDWARD BROWN. I would like to ask, Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Philadelphia would explain, or if they have information would they give it, as to how many states in the United States have a bill of this nature.

Mr. STERLING. I cannot answer that. I am told by the Secretary of the Crimes Commission that about 20 per cent. of the states of the Union have it.

Mr. EDWARD BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman further, are any of those states on the border of the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I would inform the gentleman that I understand New Jersey and New York have it.

Mr. EDWARD BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to ask the gentleman further, if this bill is adopted, would it apply to children who have weapons that come under the clauses of this bill, that is toy weapons of a similar nature?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I am told there is no act which will prevent a child from having a machine gun, but there is an act which takes care of toy weapons.

Mr. EDWARD BROWN. Then Mr. Speaker and members of the House, what would prevent, if this bill was adopted, the Philadelphia gangsters from going into New Jersey or New York and purchasing weapons?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I would reply that New Jersey, as I said a moment ago, has a similar act. Ohio also has it and New York, so that the states almost entirely surrounding us have this kind of protection, or at least partial protection.

Mr. EDWARD BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I understand that Delaware and Maryland on the other border of the state do not have an act of this kind.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am told that Delaware has a registration act exactly like this.

Mr. EDWARD BROWN. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, if we were to go back to the time of the beginning of our country, and review the conditions down to the present time, we would find that the people of the United States have found themselves always growing up accostumed to the use of fire-arms such as are mentioned in this bill. Through that long time experience with the use of fire-arms we find that very little crime was committed until recent years. Within this recent period of time practically every crime that has been committed in our country has been committed by those who are known today as gangsters and gunmen. The people who own and carry firearms at the present day and who have only possessed them with the intention of hunting and for protection within their own homes, have practically in all cases been eliminated from the crime wave that is in our country today, with the exception of a few, a very, very small percentage, who have had access to weapons, and who are classified as those coming under the insanity clause. Does it seem possible to you that in a state like this, that we would prohibit those who are traveling on the public highway from possessing a weapon of this kind in order that the gangman can still have further protection, by still having possession of a weapon and knowing almost for a certainty no one else on the highway will have one. Are we going to pass a piece of legislation of this kind, which it has been suggested is striking at the heart of crime, and yet is going to place us all under a restriction that makes it a necessity for us to register? We know that a very great many will not take advantage of that and thus will not have the necessary protection in their own homes. We find that a great many accidental deaths are due to the carrying of toy weapons which are not included in this bill, and, gentlemen we have so many states on our border free from such legislation that it will not prevent any member of the gangster organizations from going over the border and purchasing all kinds of firearms and bringing them into the state, and the result will be that you will have this restriction placed upon the people of the Commonwealth who will not have a firearm within their homes, nor any kind of protection. It seems to me that instead of being a protection against the crime wave we are simply opening the doors for the gangsters to further increase. This protection means that he may go about his nefarious profession with almost absolute security. I ask this House to give this bill very careful consideration in its voting.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise in my place to appeal to the country members of this House, to forget the little inconvenience contained in this bill, so far as our people are concerned, and to take a position on the side of the enforcement of the law, we make so much fuss about, and so much talk about in the country districts, and stand with the officers of the law in this movement putting the State of Pennsylvania in line with the other states. Forget that the people back home may be inconvenienced. I want to refer particularly to the city of Philadelphia and the members of the Legislature from that city. Since I have been in the Legislature, I have watched the members from Philadelphia unselfishly vote for measures that we needed in the country. I saw them in this session, when we had our road program which meant so much to our people in bringing them out of the mud—

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. BALDRIGE. I desire to call the gentleman to order. He is not speaking on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the merits of the bill.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the Legislature, I say that the members of the Legislature from Philadelphia have voted for the legislation which we particularly needed all over the State and they had to pay a very large part of the bill. Their representatives have come on the floor of this House and have told the country members that they need this legislation, that they need it to curb crime and violence and all kinds of violations of the law in that city, and I think that we members from the country ought to have broad enough vision to step in line with the progress of the times and vote for this bill.

I heard the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania say in one of the hearings on the crime commission bills, and I think that it ought to be repeated, that in 60 years the Legislture of Pennsylvania had passed no bill that in any way interfered with the criminal, but that all legislation passed in those 60 years has been against the Commonwealth and in favor of the defendant. I think it is time that this Legislature took this position and looked at this proposition as it ought to be looked at and to tighten up the criminal laws of Pennsylvania so that the criminal will know that in Pennsylvania, the Commonwealth can move swiftly and with a strong hand. In the Committee of Judiciary General I have been watching these laws ever since I have been a member of this Legislature, and the other night we passed a bill increasing the penalty for involuntary manslaughter, and that is the first act I have seen passed in this House that interfered with the activity or embarrassed the criminal in any way. I think we should pass this bill. The sportsmen have been taken care of. There will be a little inconvenience to our people such as registering every five years, but that don't amount to anything. The State of Pennsylvania ought to move into a position on the side of law enforcement and we should take a stand with the officers of the law and against the criminal. I for one desire to have my vote in this House recorded as a vote for morality and for good government in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I believe that a great amount of the hostility that has been engendered amongst the sportsmen of Pennsylvania was brought about prior to the time the amendment on page 18 was inserted in this bill. If you will only take the time to read that amendment carefully, you will see, and I am positive that the sportsmen in the various districts that you come from will agree with you, that there is absolutely no hardship being brought upon the sportsmen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I feel that the sportsmen of Pennsylvania have been placed in a false light in this House today. I believe that when the sportsmen of Pennsylvania are given the title sportsmen that they are entitled to that term and that they will support this measure just the same as the sportsmen in any other state. I feel that they would be the last ones to come in here, in view of the amendment that has been inserted on page 18, and ask any member of this House to vote against this bill. On page 16 of this act, you will find that any one possessing a firearm over the length of twenty-four inches does not come under the provisions of this act. You men that are hunters know that the average automatic shotgun is over twenty-four inches. Don't leave the impression go out throughout this Commonwealth that the sportsmen of Pennsylvania are condoning the acts of the criminals, not only in the city of Philadelphia, but throughout this Commonwealth. The argument advanced by the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Brown, that this act has only been adopted in comparatively few states, should have no influence on your vote. You know as well as I do that if the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania adopts this act now, that in a comparatively short space of time, commonwealth after commonwealth in this great United States will follow the example of the Keystone State. Let us be men and let us be bell wethers in legislation of this type. If you vote down this bill today you are stamping your approval upon the actions of men who, without any regard for law, without any regard for human life, roam the highways and the by-ways of this Commonwealth and shoot down innocent people, bystanders, not only the intended victims, but innocent bystanders, in their desire to reek revenge upon people who do not agree with them. I can see, members of the Legislature, absolutely nothing wrong with this bill in the manner in which it is drawn. Some of the members of the House immediately around me had the thought that you could not have a revolver in your home for protection. That condition is adjusted by this act. All that is required is that once every five years you shall have your license renewed. What is charged for that? Only fifty cents. When a crime takes place in this Commonwealth, it is often difficult to locate and apprehend the actual offender, and you read time after time that in the dragnet that is cast out, many people are brought into the hands of the law who have stilettos, revolvers, machine guns and other weapons in their possession, and these are the people that have no right to have these weapons. This act will put a stop to their carrying the weapons, which perhaps they were not using wrongfully when apprehended, but which they intended to use in the very near future. I can see absolutely no reason for voting down a bill of this type.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BALDRIGE. I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia if he has any information that he can give to this House as to what percentage of the public in Philadelphia are racketeers and criminals.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in reply to the gentleman from Allegheny, I desire to say that I don't believe that any very considerable percentage of the people who live in Philadelphia are bandits, or racketeers, or criminals, but I inform the gentleman from Allegheny that we are very frequently visited by an epidemic of non-resident bandits, criminals and racketeers.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman further, how this bill would reach out and get the bandits and racketeers and criminals who are outside of the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Allegheny I would say that in the first place this bill requires that they must be residents of the county, and in the second place that they can show by certificate of good character that they have a right to have the firearm.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am serious about this proposition. I want to get to the bottom of this proposition. I desire to interrogate the gentleman further, Mr. Speaker. I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia what there is in this bill that would prohibit bandits, racketeers and criminals from coming from other counties and cities and carrying on their work in Philadelphia if this bill does become a law?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in further reply to the gentleman I would say that this bill makes possession of firearms unlawful. I have already stated that the bordering states have similar laws, almost similar registration acts. At least we feel that if he carries a weapon without a license that he may be picked up and charged with a crime which this bill makes a felony.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask if it is not a fact that in 1916, in the city of Philadelphia, there was a car load of eight criminals came over from New York City and went into your bloody fifth ward and killed a policeman during election time?

Mr. STERLING. My friend from Allegheny is obviously making a statement and not asking a question, so I don't think it is necessary to answer.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, if it is not a fact that in the election of 1916, in the fifth ward in the city of Philadelphia, prior to the session of 1917, there were not eight thugs who came over from New York City and killed one of your police officers in your fifth ward?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I venture the opinion that if this bill had then been on the statute books that it would not have been healthy for such a thing to have occurred in that city or in this Commonwealth.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is not the first time that we have had a firearms bill in this House. Every session since the session of 1917 we have had it. I am not defending the criminal; I am not defending the sportsmen. I am here conscientiously and sincerely opposing this bill because it is wrong. I think it is wrong; first, because it is going to harrass the upright and peaceable citizens who have firearms in their homes for their own protection, and this will take away that protection and make them helpless. The bandit that wants to go to their city to get his man will continue to do so, and commit his depredations against a helpless population. You have plenty of laws now to suppress banditry, if you want to do it.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there is something wrong over there in Philadelphia and it is not with the law. The same thing is true in Chicago and New York and in some other large cities. You heard them say here awhile ago that there was an amendment inserted in this bill that wiped away the objection of the sportsmen and that anyone over 21 years of age holding a hunting license could carry a pistol. What about the boys from 16 to 21 years of age and who now have a right to carry a hunter's license.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Allegheny permit me to answer his last statement as to the amendment which has been agreed upon with respect to that provision which he now complains of.

Mr. BALDRIGE. I will, Mr. Speaker, if he doesn't take too long.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, at the request of Mr. Haines, from Bucks County, an amendment has been agreed upon and we intend to make the necessary amendment to the bill. We will agree that the necessary licenses under this bill shall be given to all persons who now under the law are permitted to receive hunter's licenses. So the objection to the boys under 21 years of age will be done away with. Mr. Haines has requested that and we will see that the amendment is made on the floor.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the gentleman for his answer and courtesy, but I say to you that amendment won't remove all my objections to the bill. This bill takes away from your law abiding citizens the right to have firearms in their homes for their own protection, unless they go to the court house in the County seat and are reported and photographed and take with them two character witnesses, and I say to you that it is very unfair. You have already passed a machine gun and bombing law. Why go ahead with this thing? You have tried for years and years to disarm the people and make them helpless and hopeless before the thug and criminal. I am not willing to help the thug and the criminal. I don't believe in it. I ask you to vote this bill down.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House. There ought to be a practical solution to the problem that confronts us. I am of the opinion, and I believe that I am correct in this opinion, that whatever opposition is made to this bill and to the final passage of the bill, apparently comes from that group of men who cannot in fairness to themselves and their constituency have the hunters' licenses interfered with. My friend, Mr. Haines, from Bucks County, and some other men who represent that element in the House, have made the suggestion, that if the bill is amended to permit those persons who now, under the present law have the right to a hunters' license, be given the same right under this bill that they now have, irrespective of age, that then this measure will have the favorable vote of more men in the House than it would have in its present condition. I am responsive to that opinion and for that reason, Mr. Speaker, I move at this time that the bill be amended by striking out on page 18, line 8. May I ask that the men who are interested in this subject look the bill and see whether or not this amendment will answer the purpose.

To amend the bill by striking out on page 18, line 3, the following words: "Over the age of 21 years" will make the bill read: "The provisions of this act in so far as the same relate to pistols or revolvers shall not apply to persons holding hunting licenses of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

Now it becomes a simple matter, members of the House and Mr. Speaker, for this bill to be acted upon finally, because under our parliamentary procedure, as you all know this amendment being a strike out, will in no wise impede the progress of the measure.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE HOUSE.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole House for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. LINTON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declares the noes appeared to have it.

WHEREUPON, a division was called for.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. STERLING and Mr. LINTON.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of the Whole?

It was adopted.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOWE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. I will, with pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOWE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia in regard to this bill, this question: Did we not just two weeks ago pass the Wheeler bill which took care of these criminals buying machine guns?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would say no to that.

Mr. HOWE. We passed the Wheeler bill did we not?

Mr. STERLING. We passed the bill sponsored by Mr. Wheeler, yes sir.

Mr. HOWE. Which provided for the licensing of machine guns and so forth.

Mr. STERLING. No; only machine guns.

Mr. HOWE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate my good friend from Philadelphia further by asking him in regards to his remarks made at the opening of this discussion; he said that everyone agreed to the registration of our motor vehicles and that we did not kick on that. I would like to ask if there are not quite a number of violations of the motor registration laws?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, frankly I don't know what my friend from Allegheny means by the question which he put and if I answered it either way I don't know what it would prove. We are not dealing with automobiles, although I dare say that at times they are almost as dangerous as firearms.

Mr. HOWE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in regard to registration of firearms I would say that it would probably work out in about the same manner as the registration of motor vehicles has worked out. Your law violators will violate this registration just the same as they violate the registration of motor vehicles.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. EDE. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll call.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be verified.

The roll was verified as follows:

RESOLUTION.

SYMPATHY EXTENDED ON DEATH OF THE HONORABLE EDWARD E. BEIDLEMAN.

Mr. FLYNN asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 10, 1929.

Whereas, Honorable Edward E. Beidleman a native of Dauphin County, Member of the House of Representatives from 1905 to 1908, Member of the State Senate from 1913 to 1919, Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth from 1919 to 1923, died on the ninth day of April 1929, and

Whereas, Governor Beidleman was one of the recognized leaders of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania for a quarter of a century and the undisputed leader of that Party in his home County of Dauphin, and

Whereas, Governor Beidleman was noted for exceptional courage, and steadfastness and perseverance in the pursuance of any cause he believed to be right, and

Whereas, his sunny disposition, forceful personality and the large fruitage of his whole-hearted and diligent life of service for his fellow-men endeared him to unnumbered multitudes who called him friend.

Now Therefore Be It Resolved, That the House of Representatives, conscious of the loss the people of the Commonwealth have sustained enters upon its records its appreciation of Edward E. Beidleman, eminent lawyer, sincere public servant, man of positiveness, rectitude and without guile, and by this resolution joins in deep sympathy with his family and the people of the Commonwealth in the great grief that we all feel by reason of his death.

JOHN M. FLYNN,
P. B. RICE,
GEORGE L. REED,
HARRY B. FOX,
SAMUEL H. MILLER.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, this resolution is offered as a slight tribute on the part of the membership of this House to a man who has been one of the oustanding figures in the public life of our Commonwealth.

I am, I believe, the only member of the House at this time who served here with Mr. Beidleman. This goes to show that the ravages of time take a heavy toll among the men who serve in public life. Most of the men who were members of the body at that time, at least a great majority of them, have passed on. Mr. Beidleman up to the very day of his sudden death, took a conspicuous and active part in our public life. His character was strong, his achievements for the good of the Commonwealth were many, and even those who differed with him politically had a great respect for Mr. Beidleman's character and ability. I therefore trust that the House will unanimously adopt this resolution.

Mr. REED. Mr. Speaker, I do not feel that I should trespass upon the time of this House, but I do feel that I would do violence to every feeling that I possess did I not say one word in behalf of this resolution.

Dauphin County has suffered an irreparable loss. Thousands and thousand of friends, men, women and children, throughout Dauphin County are today longing for the touch of a vanished hand and the sound of a voice that is stilled.

I will not take the time to review the noble character and career of former Lieutenant Governor Beidleman. His career as a legislator, as a leader of thought in this Commonwealth, is well known to each and every member of this House; but in Dauphin County we had come to love him. I do not know of any man active or prominent in leadership in politics and in political life of whom it might justly be said so truly, that he was a friend of all of the people.

He was born in comparative poverty and high as he was raised in his distinguished career, it seems that he never lost that friendship for all who toil, and I feel that that was the secret of his power. It was because every man working in the shop, or in the field, every woman suffering bereavement, knew that in Edward E. Beidleman he or she had a loyal and sympathetic friend. And so it was in his public career that most especially he served the community. There was not a church, there was not an organization of any kind looking to the well-being of this community, that sent an appeal to Edward E. Beidleman, that did not receive a response. I think it is typical and characteristic of him that the very last service of his life was not a service of pleasure or of personal gain, but he was stricken down while speaking to a group of his fellow-citizens in a great campaign to be made in this city for the relief of institutions devoted to welfare. We shall miss him. His life has been an inspiration. I feel, therefore, Mr. Speaker, that I possibly may not be justified in consuming your time, but in behalf of the delegation from Dauphin County I appreciate this opportunity of expressing our feelings upon this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed on third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 5, by striking out "($160,000)" and insert in lieu thereof "($60,000)."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on last Monday an honor was conferred on one of our members, namely, the Honorable Edward Brown, from the richest township in the State, namely, Hanover, and from the best county in the State, namely, Luzerne. He had a double honor conferred upon him. The first was he had the honor of voting for my pet bill, the coal tax repealer. The second was when his wife presented him with a fine bouncing eight and one-half pound baby, whom they have named, "Beverly Jane." I am informed this is a very beautiful young girl, who takes after her mother for beauty. Due to the Honorable Mr. Brown's feeble condition and advanced age, I think the members should pass a resolution congratulating him on his wonderful achievement and also at the same time pay our respects to Mrs. Brown and to hope that Beverly Jane may always be a comfort to her and to her distinguished husband. The last report we had, the mother and baby were doing fine, and the father doing as well as could be expected.

RESOLUTION.

CONGRATULATIONS EXTENDED TO THE HONORABLE EDWARD BROWN.

Mr. JONES asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted.

In the House of Representatives, April 10th, 1929.

Be it resolved that the members of the House of Representatives congratulate the Honorable and Mrs. Edward Brown on their new increase to their family circle and wish Beverly Jane a happy life and successful career, and that she will always be a joy and consolation to her distinguished parents.

MOTION TO MAKE SENATE BILL NO. 317 A SPECIAL ORDER.

Moved by Mr. Sterling, seconded by Mr. Davidson, that House Bill No. 2402, (Senate Bill No. 317, file folio No. 5421), on page 48 of the calendar of April 9th, entitled:

An Act authorizing the sentencing of persons convicted for a second or subsequent offense of certain crimes to additional prison terms and to imprisonment for life.

be made a special order at this time.

Mr. DAVIDSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am going to ask you to vote this motion down, and I am going to ask, after voting it down to have it placed on the postponed calender, with the promise that I will voice no objection to having it brought up on Monday evening and have it made a special order for Monday evening. I do not want to see the bill placed in jeopardy. It has passed the Senate and has passed two readings in the House and will come up for third reading. I make this request for this reason: I am against the bill in principle and in form, but I feel that the bill ought to be amended in form and I will immediately start to prepare these amendments, if permitted, so that they may be presented to Mr. Sterling and then acted upon by this House. If the House does not agree to them, we will then go back to the bill. I am against this bill. I ask you to vote this motion down, and I assure the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, that when the bill is called up I will voice no objection but I will be glad to have it made a special order for Monday evening. I would appreciate that courtesy from the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I made that motion to accommodate my friend Mr. Witkin. It so happens that he has an engagement in Philadelphia this evening. That bill is another one of the bills prepared by the Crimes Commission. It has had the earnest consideration of the Senate and the House Judiciary General Committee and I think that this House can now very readily dispose of it without very much speech making. I repeat what I said a moment ago that this special order motion was made by me to accommodate my friend Mr. Witkin who advised me a little while ago that he was obliged to go to Philadelphia early this afternoon. I believe that the House ought to cooperate with me so that Mr. Witkin may keep his engagement.

Mr. SOWERS. I hope the House will vote this motion down so that Mr. Witkin and the rest of us may have more time to study it and so that he can talk longer.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want to say that if the gentleman from Philadelphia entertains the though that he has accommodated me by asking this bill be made a special order now, I want to assure him that he has not. I ask leave, Mr. Speaker, to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. I will, with pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WITKIN. May I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Speaker ,what possible harm can come to this bill by making it a special order on Monday evening at 10 o'clock.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, inasmuch as I am of the opinion that whatever my friend Mr.

Witkin may say against this bill will definitely be construed by this House to be in its favor, I withdraw my motion, that it be made a special order at this time.

SENATE BILL NO. 317 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 2042, (Senate Bill No. 317), file folio 5421, entitled:

An Act authorizing the sentencing of persons convicted for a second or subsequent offense of certain crimes to additional prison terms and to imprisonment for life.

on page 48 of the calendar of April 9th be made a special order of business on Monday evening, April 15th, at 10.00 o'clock.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RECESS.

The SPEAKER. The Chair declares a recess until 4.30 o'clock this afternoon.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 4.30 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (Aaron B. Hess) in the Chair.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DAVIDSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Holmes, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOLMES. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DAVIDSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Centre County what good he expects would come of a bill of this kind.

Mr. HOLMES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill has been in force in many counties of the State for the last seventy years.

Mr. DAVIDSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman further if it has been in force for 70 years, why do we need a law now?

Mr. HOLMES. Mr. Speaker, it was only in force in certain counties. I am not a Justice of the Peace and I never have been. I was asked to introduce this bill by certain gentlemen Centre County, gentlemen of very high type. These men asked me to have the law extended to Centre County, which was impossible under the present Constitution. A similar bill was passed in 1861 for Erie County and then later extended to Union County, and later to the following counties which have this right at the present time: Armstrong, Beaver, Bradford, Butler, Clarion, Crawford, Erie, Forest, Indiana, Lawrence, Lehigh, Luzerne, Mercer, Northampton, Northumberland, Perry, Pike, Potter, Susquehanna, Snyder, Tioga, Venango, Warren, Wayne, Washington and Wyoming.

If you will read over the bill I am sure you will agree it is not a salary raiser. It was impossible to have it extended to Centre County unless it took in all of the seventh-class counties. If this has been a bad law it has not in seventy years ever been repealed. They came to me with this request that the law might be extended to our county and therefore I introduced the bill.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I represent a seventh-class county. I have given quite a little attention to the practice of criminal law and law in general for a number of years, and I know no reason why the Legislature of this Commonwealth should wish on the counties of our class a law of this kind. There is no reason on earth for a practice of this kind in seventh-class counties. An act of this kind would put an expense on us that we don't need. We have plenty of machinery now. In fact, we have more machinery than we need. I ask the members of the House to vote this down, because there is no need for it, and the sponsor who has stood up for it does not give any reason for it except that certain gentlemen asked to have it introduced. I ask you to vote it down.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of this bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Centre permit himself to be interrogated further?

Mr. HOLMES. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to know what the crimes are that are provided for in the section enumerated.

Mr. HOLMES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, at the request of the gentleman from Delaware, I will read a list of the crimes. They may try by a jury composed of six men the following offenses: Assault and battery, blasphemy, cruelty to animals, cheating lodginghouse keepers, disturbing public assemblies, larceny, when the value of the goods is less than ten dollars, malicious mischief to timber trees, windows, doors, signs and bills, open lewdness, revealing the contents of telegrams, and sales of merchandise near camp meetings.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if this is such a bad law, I cannot understand why it has remained on our statute books for the past seventy years.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2019, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one two three four five and nine of the act approved the thirteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws one hundred ninety-six) entitled "An act authorizing cities of the third class to establish a pension fund for employes of said cities who are not now protected by pension authorized by the laws of this State and in force at the time of the passage of this act" requiring the establishment of a pension fund in certain cities of the third class.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill, House Bill No. 2019, provides for pensioning of the employees of cities of the third class after they have reached the age of sixty years and have been engaged in the employment of the city for a period of twenty years. It provides that the employees shall pay into the Board of Pensions monthly an amount equal to two per centum of their monthly salaries or wages, but in no case to be required to pay over four dollars a month, and after he reaches the age of sixty years he shall be entitled to half pay for the rest of his life. The unfortunate part of this bill is that it settles a permanent obligation upon the cities of the third class. I notice in the last section of this bill, Section 9, that they have changed the word from "may" to "shall." In other words, it imposes upon cities of the third class a burden, a mandatory burden, of taxing the people of those cities for their employees whether the cities want it or whether they don't. Now it seems to me that we have been carrying this pension idea far enough so far as making it mandatory is concerned. It doesn't seem to me to be fair that cities of the third class should be told by this Legislature that they must impose a tax upon their people for the pensioning of the employees of that city.

There is another objection that I have to this bill, and that is this, that there is no way of knowing how much this pension act will impose on the city, how much money it is going to cost the city. I think before we pass legislation of this kind we should give it thorough and due consideration. I feel that all legislation of this character, which imposes upon a city a mandatory provision to the effect that they must tax their people for a pension fund, whether it is good, bad, or indifferent, is a very loose way of legislating. For that reason I hope the members of this House will vote this bill down. If there was a provision in this bill that city councils might impose this tax there would no objection to it; they ought to be allowed to have self-government. Certainly the cities, when it comes to a matter so vital to their welfare, should be the final arbiter in matters of this kind. I ask you to vote this bill down.

Mr. BART RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Spangler.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SPANGLER. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BART RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask Mr. Spangler if it is not a fact that under the Act of 1921 as it now stands the cities of the third class shall pay a certain sum of money toward a pension fund.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not certain about the language of the existing law, but I do know this, that in most of the third-class cities that has not been done. I have not looked up the Act of 1921, but my impression is that it does not so state.

Mr. BART RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, without desiring to disagree with my friend from York, we have here the law of 1921, and it specifically says that cities of the third class shall contribute a sum of money to pension funds for the firemen.

Mr. SPANGLER. But it does not name the amount.

Mr. BART RICHARDS. That is the weakness of this bill?

Mr. SPANGLER. Yes, exactly.

Mr. BART RICHARDS. The gentleman from York is entirely right in his remarks regarding pensions, but it seems to me if we are going to have a pension system we should have one thing all over. At the present time, because of the differences of opinion existing in cities of the third class between the firemen and the policemen and the members of council, we have fifteen different systems. The city of Erie is not contributing to a pension fund according to one of their members. The city of Reading I am not sure about. The city of New Castle has established a pension fund. As far as taxing the people is concerned, you are going to create a civil service fund for policemen, firemen or whatever. There is certainly only one way to get that money and that is from taxes. I think this bill is a good bill in so far as it clarifies the differences in these systems. It is, however, a bill that is subject to a great many differences of opinion. I think any member of a third-class city here will agree with me that at the present time the councils of cities of the third class are up in the air as to just what to do. In some instances the two per cent. of the foreign insurance premiums is being divided between the policemen and the firemen. Still in other cities the volunteer firemen are getting all of it, and in other cities I cannot say if they are getting any of it at all. Mr. Spangler is right when he says that we should get to some conclusion on pensions and I agree with him, but we do now have a pension act on the books and it is a fact that the Act of 1921 specifically states that cities of the third class shall contribute a sum of money. It is a simple matter for them to avoid that by contributing one dollar, but the amount would be insufficient and therefore the city would have its firemen and policemen getting a pension without a fund to pay it from. We have it for the State employees. In my opinion the present act should be replaced by something clearer on the books.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would have no objections to having this bill amended to read "may." As the gentleman has stated, under the Act of 1921 it left it discretionary to the city council as to how much money they would contribute. In this bill the amount the city might be compelled to contribute is absolutely indefinite. It may be a very great burden on the city and if it becomes a burden on the city the trouble is that they would employ one man where they are now employing two and would avoid employing the man who would come in under the provisions of this act. That is to say they would exclude the old men from their employ and employ only young men who after being in the employ of the city for twenty years and before they would reach the age of sixty might be discharged before he would come under the provisions of this act.

Mr. BART RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask if it is not a fact that we are to-day only employing men between the ages of twenty-one and forty-five under the civil service rules.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if the gentleman will change that one word "may" and permit the city councils to use their discretion I will then have no objection to the provisions of the bill.

Mr. BART RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is not my bill, neither did it have its origin in any idea of mine. Mr. Hefferon is the sponsor of the bill, but I reported the bill out from the Committee on Pensions and Gratuities. I am interested in seeing legislation on the books that someone can interpret properly. Mr. Hefferon is not in the House and I would therefore instead of amending the bill agree that the bill be placed on the postponed calendar until to-morrow or Monday.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. BART RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 10, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I have the honor to inform you that I have this date approved and signed the following

House Bill No. 390, file folio 357, entitled, "An Act providing for the purchase of digests and law books for the offices of district attorneys of the Commonwealth by the boards of commissioners of counties and for the payment of the same out of the funds of the county".

JOHN S. FISHER.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 531.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 10, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 531, file folio 659, entitled, "An act relating to regulating and validating the issue of certificates of stock by companies incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth".

This bill would authorize an assistant treasurer to countersign corporate stock certificates and would permit the use of facsimile signatures of corporate officers in cases where the certificates is also signed by a transfer agent and a registrar. It would also validate all certificates heretofore issued in the manner authorized in this bill.

House Bill No. 1412, which has passed the Legislature, covers this same subject matter in a somewhat more detailed manner, and I shall be pleased to give it my approval. No purpose would therefore be served by approving this bill.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary not withstanding?

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 498.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 10, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 498, file folio 205, entitled, "An act to amend section four hundred and twenty-one of the act approved the fourteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred forty) entitled 'An act concerning townships and revising amending and consolidating the law relating thereto' as amended."

This bill authorizes the supervisors of second class townships to petition the court for permission to levy a road tax in excess of ten mills by majority instead of unanimous action of said boards.

Senate Bill No. 166 is identical in language and purpose and was approved on April 3. The present bill is therefore unnecessary.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary not withstanding.

Mr. MUMFORD. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Marcus, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MARCUS. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask if this is a bill that provides for the one-half of the one per cent. tax?

Mr. MARCUS. That is correct, sir.

Mr. TURNER. Am I correct in my understanding that it reduces the inheritance tax?

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, under this act there is a reduction from ten per cent. to one-half of one per cent. on charitable bequests, and I might add that this bill has the endorsement of the administration.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny if he has any estimate of the amount this will cost the Commonwealth by the reduction in income.

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in reply to the gentleman from Delaware I would say that I have not, but before this bill was presented to the membership of this House its provisions were gone over very carefully by Mr. Rigby of the Auditor General's Department, and he was fully satisfied it was a measure that would not injure the revenue of the State to any considerable amount.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I feel that we ought to call to the attention of the House the fact that the other night we passed a bill reducing the collateral inheritance tax from ten per cent. to five per cent. which I think it was estimated would cost the Commonwealth about $600,000 in revenue. If the reduction of taxation on collateral inheritances from ten per cent. to five per cent. results in a loss of $600,000 to the Commonwealth, the reduction to one-half of one per cent. would be a decrease certainly by that much in proportion.

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the statement of the gentleman from Delaware, I wish to call to his attention that this act only applies to charitable bequests. It is true that there have been three bills introduced in this House, Mr. Speaker, this session, one by the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Wright, that made it two per cent. on charitable bequests; another was introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Mathay, which made the rate five per cent. Then this bill was introduced, which you are now about to approve, which makes it one-half of one per cent. These bills were carefully digested by the administration and after having been gone over carefully by the administration I am informed that it is the wish of the administration that the membership of this House vote for this bill. I am certain that the administration would heartily approve your support of this bill.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think all of us are in sympathy with bequests to charitable institutions and I believe it is the argument of those who are interested in such organizations that the passage of this bill will assist in the securing of further bequests to charitable institutions. I doubt that very much. I would like to help the charities of Pennsylvania whenever and wherever I can, but I want to call this fact to your attention, that these charities, wherever they have established these institutions, are relieved from local taxation. In the county which I have the honor to represent we have a great number of charitable institutions that have been established in different country districts where they desire to secure more land and more room, and while this bill has no relation directly to local taxation, it is one of the opportunities at least to secure something out of the money that goes to charitable institutions. I believe this bill will reduce the amount of the income of the Commonwealth something over $1,000,000, and, at a time when we are struggling to secure every penny we can to help along our charities in Pennsylvania and striving to secure a greater amount in the appropriation bills, which becomes a direct charge on the revenue of the Commonwealth, I do not believe this bill should be passed.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to explain to the members of the House that House bills on third reading, unless they are considered to-night, will be in considerable jeopardy.

It would require most expeditious action on them for a bill on third reading to pass after to-morrow. For this reason the House will be at ease until we have another report from the printer. There are a number of third reading bills that are in print and which you will have on your desk later in the evening.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, has the Chair any idea of the number of third reading House bills that have not as yet been acted on on the third reading calendar?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is advised that there are not very many on this calendar.

Mr. TURNER. If there are not very many of them, might we not have the numbers of the bills that have not yet been acted on while we are waiting now?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would state to the House that there are now thirty-four appropriation bills not on file, thirty-two third reading bills not on file, and three bills recalled from the Governor that are not on file. Instructions have been given to the printing office to deliver all of these bills to the House to-night. We are desirous to protect the legislation of all of the members of this House and that is the only way it can be accomplished, so the House will be at ease until these bills are on file.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, while I was away on appropriation committee business on Wednesday of last week, during the afternoon session I was marked up as voting "yes" for House Bill No. 1952 and House Bill No. 1955 known as the Convict Labor bills. During the last session I was marked up the same way and there was a circular sent around which very nearly caused my defeat and I would like to have this spread on the Legislative Journal; that I was absent on affairs of the Appropriations Committee and did not vote "yes" and these two bills.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be noted in the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. KOHR. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cumberland will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. KOHR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there have been a number of inquiries about the purpose of House Bill No. 1955 in connection with the building of this institution in Cumberland County, and I would like to say for the information of those who have inquired about it, that the bill has been amended in the Senate striking out that feature providing for some of the labor being done by prisoners from Rockview Penitentiary.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's remarks will be spread on the Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1159.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 28, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1159, file folio 1435, entitled, "An Act to amend section twenty-two of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred and fifty-four) entitled 'An act to protect the public health and safety by regulating the erection alteration repair use occupancy maintenance sanitation and condemnation of dwellings two-family dwellings rooming-houses and tenements by regulating the use maintenance and sanitation of the grounds surrounding the same the adjoining buildings and all vacant land in cities of the first class providing for their inspection and abatement of nuisances the vacating of uninhabitable houses and the filing of liens creating a Division of Housing and Sanitation and providing penalties for violations of the provisions thereof and repealing all laws inconsistent therewith.'"

This bill would permit the Chief of the Division of Housing and Sanitation in cities of the first class to permit the use of a building as a tenement without a sewer connection, if a bond in an amount fixed by the Chief of the Division be furnished, conditioned upon the connection of the tenement within a period of six months after a sewer has been laid in a contiguous street.

I am advised by the authorities of the City of Philadelphia that the approval of this bill would be a step backwards, even though its provisions merely lodge discretion in the Chief of the Division of Housing which he is not obliged to exercise.

It is against the policy of the city at the present time to permit buildings to be used as tenements unless they have sewer connections. The present bill would permit unconnected buildings to be used as tenements for an indefinite period, the only requirement being that within six months after a sewer is laid in a contiguous street the tenement must be connected therewith.

It is also to be noted that the bill does not in any way indicate upon what basis the Chief of the Division of Housing shall fix the amount of the bond to be furnished by persons permitted to take advantage of the bill. Legislation of this sort should certainly require a bond in at least double the estimated cost of making the sewer connection.

In my judgment, legislation should not be enacted which interferes with the health policy of any city of this Commonwealth.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1583, as follows:

A Joint Resolution directing the Public Service Commission to proclaim certain freight transportation rates on routes wholly within the State and imposing duties on the Governor and the Attorney General in connection therewith

Whereas The Senate and House of Representatives of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met in one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven passed a resolution authorizing the Governor of the Commonwealth the Attorney General's Department and the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania to investigate the right of said Public Service Commission to establish and maintain rates for the transportation of freight between points within the Commonwealth and directed and authorized said Public Service Commission to establish and enforce intra-state rates for such transportation provided such legal power was found to reside within it and further authorized the Attorney General's Department in case there was no such power to prepare whatever legislation that might be necessary to endow said Commission with said power of fixing and maintaining intra-state rates and to arrange for its introduction into the General Assembly and Congress of United States or both of them as might be necessary and

Whereas No report has reached the General Assembly of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine of any action taken in pursuance to this resolution and

Whereas Recent court decisions and actions of common carriers tend to sustain the contention that the states including the State of Pennsylvania have not at any time relinquished their control of purely intra-state rates for the transportation of freight and that the state still has and may exercise such power therefore be it

Resolved By the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met That the Public Service Commission be directed to proclaim and declare rates for the transportation of freight between points within the State of Pennsylvania and on routes wholly within the State on a fair per ton mile basis allowing for reasonable assembling and terminal charges and that the Governor of the Commonwealth and the Attorney General be directed to furnish such legal advice and assistance as may be necessary to put these rates into effect and to sustain them in the courts of the State and of the United States

The SPEAKER (Aaron B. Hess) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Martin W. Schweitzer, Ph. D., offered the following prayer:

Throughout another week, Oh God, Thou hast crowned us our lives with Thy goodness. It is our bounden duty to pray at all times. We are weak, Oh God, but Thou art strong, we are poor, but Thou art rich in mercy. We live and move and have our being in Thee. We are all social beings, instinctively gregarious and essentially social. Solitary man is a monstrous conception and in this sense a man is no man. We thank Thee, Oh God, that there is in the hearts of men the principle of good which permits us to extend a helping hand unto one another. We thank Thee, Oh God for the heroism and patriotism of Thy people. We pray that Thou wilt bless this Legislature, that Thou wilt bless all the efforts that have been put forth thus far, and may we go to our homes this week and return again with fresh, with renewed vigor, to worship Thee and to enact those laws for the upbuilding of the Commonwealth which Thou wouldst have. We ask it all in the name of Jesus Christ. Amen.

Mr. THOMAS J. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is a very great surprise to me and I hardly know what to say to show my appreciation of the honor you do me in passing such a resolution. It only makes me feel more like some of the other people that have been somewhat honored in the same way in this House as to what they have said in regard to their membership here, that is, that they remember it with the very greatest of pleasure. Those who have stood here before have acknowledged that they have left here with reluctance and that they were always glad to come back and greet their friends here who have shown such a degree of friendship for them. I thoroughly appreciate this honor and I thank you.

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, may I be permitted to interrogate the Speaker?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS J. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I will with pleasure.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Indiana will proceed.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Brown permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS J. BROWN. I certainly will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Brown, is it a fact, as they say that the first fifty years of married life is the hardest?

Mr. THOMAS J. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my reply to that is that I cannot tell that until I have had the second fifty years.

The SPEAKER. The Chair now understands why the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Brown, ordered a radio breakfast this morning.

Upon the revocation of the authority of any such foreign society to do business in this Commonwealth for the reason that the valuation of its certificates as hereinbefore provided shall show that the present value of future net contributions together with the admitted asses is less than the present value of the promised benefits and accrued liabilities such society shall reinsure all its business and contracts then in force in this Commonwealth within a reasonable time thereafter in such manner as shall be satisfactory to the Insurance Commissioner

Section 4 That section twenty-three of the said act be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 23 Every society transacting business under this act shall annually on or before the first day of March file with the Insurance Commissioner in such form as may require a statement under oath of its president and secretary or corresponding officers of its transactions for the calendar year standing on that date and shall include therein all accrued liability under unpaid claims where notice was received by the society at its home office before the end of such calendar year No society shall be required to include in such report any claim or claims notice of which had not been received by the society at its home office before the end of such year. It shall also furnish such other information as the Insurance Commissioner may deem necessary to a proper exhibit of its business and plan of working. The commissioner may at other times require any further statement he may deem necessary to be made relating to such society

In addition to the annual report herein required each society shall annually report to the commissioner a valuation of its benefit fund obligations in force on December thirty-first last preceding excluding those entered into within the year for which the report is filed in cases where the contributions for the first year in whole or in part are used for current expenses Such report of valuation shall show as contingent liabilities the present mid-year value of the promised benefits provided in the constitution and laws of such society under certificates then subject to valuation at not more than the average rate of interest earned on its invested assets during five calendar years preceding the date of such annual report less such portion thereof as may have been assumed by other associations or companies and as contingent assets the present mid-year value at the same rate of interest of the future net contributions provided in its constitution and laws as the same are in practice actually collected

In lieu of the above valuation any society at its option may show the net value of its benefit fund obligations subject to valuation at the rate of interest as hereinbefore provided and said net value when computed in the case of monthly contributions may be the means of the terminal value for the end of the preceding and of the current certificate years from which said tabular values shall be deducted such portion thereof as may have been assumed by other associations or companies and in addition there may be deducted the present worth of the probable future annual savings in death losses as specified in the preceding paragraph

Every such valuation report shall include as a contingent liability an estimate made by or on behalf of the society of the probable future payments under unpaid claims notice of which was received by the society at its home office before the end of the calendar year covered by the annual report but which has not been approved for payment at the date of such report

Deferred payments or instalments of claims whether involving a life contingency or not shall be included in the valuation report as contingent liabilities on the happening of the contingency upon which such payments or instalments are thereafter to be paid All such liability shall be the present worth of such future payments or instalments at the average rate of interest earned by the society during the five calendar years preceding the date of such annual report

Each valuation report shall be certified by a competent accountant or actuary or at the request and expense of the society verified by the actuary of the department of insurance of the home State of the society and shall be filed with the Insurance Commissioner on or before the first day of June succeeding the submission of the last preceding annual report

The minimum standard of valuation for all benefit fund obligations except for disability and dependent benefits shall be the National Fraternal Congress Table of Mortality hereinbefore referred to or at the option of the society by any other standard table or a table based upon the society's own experience of at least twenty years and covering not less than one hundred thousand lives with an interest assumption of not more than the average rate of interest earned on its invested assets during the five calendar years preceding such annual report

Every valuation report shall set forth clearly and fully the mortality and interest basis and the method of valuation Any society providing for disability benefits shall keep a separate account of the same in its said valuation report shall charge as a liability the balance to the credit of such fund or funds at the date of such valuation Where a combined contribution table is used by a society for both death and permanent and total disability benefits the valuation may be of death benefit only and in such case a separate accounting shall not be required

A report of such valuation with such explanation as the society may deem advisable shall be printed and mailed to each beneficial member of the society not later than July first of each year in lieu thereof may be published in the society's official paper and the issue containing the same mailed to each beneficial member of the society [The valuation herein provided for shall not be considered or regarded as a test of the financial solvency of the society but each society shall be held to be legally solvent so long as the funds in its possession are equal to or in excess of its matured liabilities]

Section 5 That section twenty-three B of said act be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 23B In lieu of the valuation hereinbefore required any society may value its certificates on a basis herein designated "accumulated basis" by crediting each member with the net amount contributed for each year and with interest at approximately the net rate earned and by charging him with his share of the losses for each year herein designated "cost of insurance" and carrying the balance if any to his credit The charge for the cost of insurance may be according to the actual experience of the society as applied to a table of mortality recognized by the law of this Commonwealth and shall take into consideration the amount at risk during each year which shall be the amount payable at death less the credit to the member

Unless specifically provided in its constitution or laws no charge shall be carried forward from the first valuation hereunder against any member for any past share of losses extending the contributions and credit If after the first valuation any member's share or losses for any year exceeds his credit including the contributions for the year the contributions shall be increased to cover his share of the losses

Any such excess share of losses chargeable to any member may be paid out of a fund or contributions especially created or required for such purpose Any member may transfer to any plans adopted by the society with net rates on which tabular reserves are maintained and on transfer shall be entitled to take such application of his credit as provided in the laws of the society Certificates issued rerated or readjusted on a basis providing for adequate rates with adequate reserves to mature such certificates upon assumption for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this Commonwealth shall be valued on such basis herein designated the "tabular basis" Provided That if on the first valuation under this section a deficiency in reserve shall be shown for any such certificate the same shall be valued on the accumulation basis

Whenever in any society having members upon the tabular basis and upon the accumulation basis the total of all costs of insurance provided for any years shall be insufficient to meet the actual death and disability losses for the year the deficiency may be met for the year from the available funds after setting aside all credits in the reserve or from increased contributions or by an increase in the number of assessments applied in the society as a whole or to classes of members as may be specified in its laws Savings from a lower amount of death losses may be returned in like manner as may be specified in its laws

If the laws of the society so provide the assets representing the reserves of any separate class of members may be carried separate for such class as if in an independent society and the required reserve accumulation of such class to set part shall not thereafter be merged with the assets of other classes of the society

A table showing the credits to individual members for each age and year of entry and showing opposite each credits the tabular reserve required in the whole life or other plan of insurance specified in the contract according to assumptions for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this Commonwealth and adopted by the society shall be filed by the society with each annual report and also be furnished to each member before July first of each year

In lieu of the aforesaid statement there may be furnished to each member within the same time a statement giving the credit for such member and giving the tabular reserve and level rate required for the transfer carrying out the plan of insurance specified in the contract No table or statement need be made or furnished where the reserves are maintained on the tabular basis For this purpose individual bookkeeping accounts for each member shall not be required and all calculations may be made by actuarial methods

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the maintenance of such surplus over and above the credits on the accumulation basis and the reserves on the tabular basis as any society may provide by or pursuant to its laws nor be construed as giving to the individual member any right or claim to any such reserve or credit other than in manner and as expressed in its constitution and laws

The sixth section was read as follows:

Section 6 That the said Act be and the same is hereby amended by adding after Section twenty-three B thereof the following new section

Section 23C If the valuation of the certificates as herein before provided shall show that the present value of future net contributions together with the admitted assets is less than the present value of the promised benefits and accrued liabilities such society shall within three years from the date of the passage of this act either collect additional assessments or increase the rates of contribution from the members to meet such deficiency or classify its members according to the adequacy of the rates they are contributing and charge each class with its proportion of any deficiency disclosed by any such valuation

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Senate, it seems to me that this measure and the other repeal bill are of enough importance to the members of this Senate to give a little time to the consideration of the condition that we shall be in if this bill is passed.

Perhaps it is not known by all that the anthracite tonnage tax carries the third largest revenue of any revenue measure that we have in Pennsylvania. The thought has come to me that the members of this Senate may be interested enough at this time to know something about the real condition that the State will be in if this tax is repealed.

It is not, Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Senate, my intention to try to influence the vote of any member of this body; but I do think it is only right that we should look for a moment to the financial structure of our State, so that we may know what will happen if this tax is repealed; and it has occurred to me, in this connection, that it would not be out of place to study, for a short time, the report of the Committee on Ways and Means of the House. This committee has gone into a lot of detail, in co-operation with the Governor's budget officer, in ascertaining just where we shall be if this tax legislation is repealed; and I am going to take the liberty of reading from this report, which I believe gives as true a picture of our finances as can be ascertained by budget officers and experts in looking up the condition of our State. If it takes a few minutes, I trust you will bear with me as I read from the report.

REPORT OF WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE OF HOUSE OF REURESENTATIVES, SESSION 1929, ON REVENUES AND APPROPRIATION LIABILITIES FOR BIENNIUM JUNE 1, 1929—MAY 31, 1931.

The Chief Executive of the Commonwealth on January 21st last, submitted to the Legislature, pursuant to law, a comprehensive and balanced budget for the biennium beginning June 1st next. The budget figures relating to anticipated revenues were obtained from the fiscal officers and the heads of the departments, boards and commissions, as well as from actual records in the several departments of the Commonwealth. The estimates were made by the budget secretary in the light of available information and from revenue receipts experienced in previous years. The accuracy of these estimates naturally depends in part upon the degree of conservatism exercised by the budget secretary. The appropriation liabilities of the State, on the other hand, were ascertained and determined by the budget secretary from the very best sources available at the time when the budget was prepared.

The Executive Budget speaks as of the date when it was submitted to the Legislature, although the collection figures contained therein are as of December 1, 1928. More than four months have since passed. In that time, new developments have occurred. Conditions have changed. Additional fact information has been made available. Too much commendation cannot be given to the quality and value of the information contained in the Executive Budget. Nothing that I may herein say should be construed to impugn or reflect upon its accuracy. The report which I now submit, if accepted, will doubtless paint an altogether different picture of the present financial condition of the Commonwealth, than was portrayed in the Executive Budget.

The Ways and Means Committee, probably for the first time in the history of the Commonwealth, has used the Executive Budget for the purpose for which it was actually intended—namely, organized Legislative study—as a guide for deeper and more profound research by the Legislature into the General Fund finances of the State. Accordingly, since the early days of this session, that study has gone on through the wholehearted co-operation of my colleagues of the committee, to whom I now make public acknowledgment of gratitude. These men have, from time to time, met and conferred with the fiscal officers and department heads of the State; they have searched deeply into the statements made to them by the fiscal officers and department heads; they have frequently conferred with the budget secretary, who on his own account has had under consideration the revision of appropriation recommendations in the light of later information; they have carefully analyzed the figures of the budget; they have on many occasions met together to consider and study profoundly the result of their labors and to reconcile the data on hand. It is the report of this research that I now ask the privilege to present to you in order that you, as members of the General Assembly, may more intelligently pass on the bills relating to appropriation and revenue that will, in the closing days of the session, come before you; and also that you, as the Legislative branch of the State Government, through this report, if it is accepted by you, may place before the Governor information and data that will greatly assist him in his consideration of the appropriation and revenue measures which will lie upon his desk after we have gone home.

We will first consider the subject of revenue:—

The initial figure to be ascertained is how much, if any, surplus will we have in the treasury on May 31, 1929.

According to the records in the office of the State Treasurer, the cash balance on March 1, 1929, was $30,885,009. Based upon collections of revenue for the period March 1st to May 31, 1929, in two preceding years, the estimated revenue for the period, March 1, 1929 to May 31, 1929, is $20,876,877. To the total of these sums should be added surplus estimated to be transferred from departments, boards and commissions under the Department of Welfare to the General Fund (page 42, Schedule L of the Executive Budget), $980,803, thus making a total in the treasury on May 31, 1929, of $52,742,692. This sum, however, is encumbered by appropriation liabilities as of March 1, 1929, in the sum of $33,710,930, less the amount thereof estimated to lapse of $4,500,000 (Executive Budget page 34, Schedule G), or a net appropriation liability of $29,210,930, after the payment of which, there will remain in the treasury, as of June 1, 1929, the net sum of surplus of $23,531,762. This figure is in agreement with the Executive Budget (page 24) and the adjustments thereof made by the budget secretary.

With this sum we begin the next biennium of June 1, 1929. This brings us then to the question—how much money will we received in the two-year period beginning on that date, from sources available under the law for General Fund purposes. On this item, we differ materially from the estimate stated in the Executive Budget (page 24, Schedule A). There it is stated that the estimated revenues available for General Fund purposes for the next biennium are $144,126,000. Your Committee firmly believes that this sum is far too conservative an estimate for the following special reason. In the biennium ending May 31, 1929, the actual and estimated collections from county officers (which collections comprise almost entirely inheritance taxes) will be slightly over $42,000,000. Whereas, for the coming biennium, the figure used for this item (Executive Budget page 130) is $39,500,000—a difference of $2,500,000. This cut or reduction is not justified. It is submitted in support of this conclusion, first, that the adult mortality in the next biennium will be at least as great as in the present biennium, and it is further submitted in support of the conclusion, that the per capita wealth of those persons who will die in the next biennium will be no less than the per capita wealth of those persons who died during the present biennium. It may be reasonably expected on the contrary, on account of the sharp advance in the value of securities, that the per capita wealth of such persons will be substantially increased. A responsible authority states that from the returns of income to the Federal government for income tax purposes, it is shown that the per capita wealth for this State and the country is on a sharp upward trend. The very great increase in receipts of income tax payments made to the government on March 15th last, proves this fact beyond contradiction.

Your committee believes that it would be justified in anticipating revenues from this source, even in excess of the sum received by the State in the present biennium. However, for the sake of safety, it submits an adjustment of the budget secretary's figure on this item by adding thereto the sum of $3,149,103, making thus available $147,275,103. A further adjustment of this figure, however, is found necessary on account of required deductions for anthracite coal tax and interest in the sum of $300,000. This will leave us with a revised estimate of revenue available for General Fund purposes in the sum of $146,975,163, which sum represents the net estimated revenue of the Commonwealth available for General Fund purposes in the next biennium. To this sum must be added the surplus $23,531,762, with which we begin the biennium. In this manner, the grand total anticipated net revenues for General Fund purposes, will be $170,506,925, which sum is in round figures about $3,000,000 in excess of the corresponding item set forth in the Executive Budget (page 131).

The announcement of this sum must not be accepted as encouragement to those of you who are interested in securing certain appropriations for institutions in your districts, or to those of you who are urging the enactment of measures the effect of which will be to reduce the revenues of the Commonwealth. The committee has put its proverbial "best foot forward" in placing the consideration and discussion of revenues in this report ahead of appropriation liabilities. Even with this greater amount of revenue, the committee deems it its duty to warn against "raiding the treasury." The greatest care and the profoundest judgment must be given to appropriation and revenue reducing legislation. This warning is given because in the study of the recommended appropriations in the Executive Budget (page 40) we find many items not there included, although the amounts thereof are actually required by mandate of law and or are necessary to the ordinary operations of the State Government. These extra appropriation items are enumerated and explained as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION
For teachers' salary, teachers' retirement, transportation of pupils and consolidation of schools ..	$4,900,000
DEPARTMENT OF PROPERTY AND SUPPLIES
Under provisions of amended administrative code; organization of central purchasing department ...	1,000,000
DEARTMENT OF REVENUE
For organization and establishment (approximately)	1,500,000
STATE-AIDED HOSPITALS AND STATE-OWNED MENTAL INSTITUTIONS
For normal expansion of operation, free bed services and temporary buildings	1,000,000
BOARD OF FINANCE AND REVENUE	50,000
DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY	24,000
TOTAL.....	$8,474,000

And for less mandatory appropriations yet none the less required for efficacious operations and expansion of the business of the Commonwealth, the following:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
On account of normal increase due to ordinary expansions	$1,000,000
ADDITIONAL HOSPITAL AND OTHER INSTITUTIONAL DEFICIENCIES	300,000
JUDICIARY	728,000
TOTAL	$2,028,000

The expenditure of these sums it must be borne in mind, is almost entirely required by mandate of existing laws. To the total thereof—$10,502,000 must be added the sum of $167,666,302, which is the appropriation budget recommendation, including actual and estimated deficits, or a grand total of appropriations in the sum of $178,168,302.

Pausing here to take account of the situation thus far described, we find that against the total of estimated revenues available for General Fund appropriations, in the amount of $170,506,925, we shall have, by mandatory laws, obligated the Commonwealth to the payment of $178,168,302. This indicates a deficit in the treasury of the Commonwealth of $7,661,377.

Your committee believes that a normal increase in the revenues of the Commonwealth may be reasonably expected from all sources in the next biennium, but it is equally certain that such increase will not nearly equal the deficit just stated.

Anthracite coal tax measures pending in the Senate and House must also at this time have our consideration. According to the Executive Budget, the anticipated revenue from this source in the next biennium will be $12,500,000. If the coal tax law is repealed at once the Commonwealth will face an indicated deficit at the end of the next biennium of about $20,161,377.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I shall be very glad to answer any interrogation.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin, if this bill does take away the tax at once.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, these figures I am giving now show what the deficit will be if the tax is taken away at once; and they also show what it will be if only $250,000 is taken away at this time and the remainder under the graduated repeal. The figures will be given in both cases, and I am speaking, Mr. President, in regard to both these measures.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, the Senator does not seem to understand my question. He says this bill would take the tax away at once. I would like to have him tell the Senate again whether it takes the tax away in two years or one year.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, these figures,—one set of them will apply if the tax is taken away in one year; and this set appears in the report, and another set will apply if the tax is taken off at once. Does that answer the question of the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Davis?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, it does.

Mr. BALDWIN. On the other hand, if the anthracite coal tax law is repealed under the Heaton Bill, the loss of revenue to the Commonwealth from this source will be $6,250,000 in the next biennium, and the indicated deficit will then be $13,911,377.

The reference in this report to pending revenue reducing measures are made impartially. The committee does not mean thereby to be considered favoring or opposing such legislation. This report is made for information only.

Your attention is further directed to the subject of additional financial aid required for capital expenditures by State-owned institutions. Although the Executive Budget allows for this item, a very sizable sum, it is strenuously urged by those interested in these institutions, that the amount so allowed is much less than is actually required to place them is such a position as will do credit to the Commonwealth.

State aided hospials also deserve your notice. These institutions are justly entitled to greater financial assistance from the Commonwealth

During every session of the Legislature, the revenue receipts and the appropriation liabilities of the State are brought further apart through the enactment of laws, the final effect of which cannot be determined until a long time after their passage. In fact, the result of such legislation is often not felt or noticed until the close of the biennium or even later. In respect to such legislation this session will be no different from others that have gone before.

It becomes necessary in the opinion of the Ways and Means Committee to remind you again that you must not, in view of this report on the anticipated revenues and appropriation liabilities, place this administration in a position of embarassment. This session of the Legislature must not be remembered by a deficit handed over by it to its successors.

Your committee believes that in addition to the anticipated revenue hereinbefore considered, the Commonwealth might receive for General Fund purposes, beginning with the next biennuim, the annual sum of $2,350,000, or in the biennium, $4,700,000, from an entirely new source not considered or mentioned in the Executive Budget. This revenue might be expected to continue only so long as the Federal Estates Tax Act of 1926 remains unchanged. However, owing to usual delays in the appraisment and settlement of Federal Estate Taxes and the ability of the estates to pay the tax promptly, (because the amount of the tax generally involves large sums), we are of the opinion that this estimated increase in revenue in the net biennium should be reduced to $3,000,000.

In fairness to the Chief Executive and his budget secretary it must be pointed out here that this revenue could not have been included in the Executive Budget since at the time when it was prepared the information relating thereto was neither in existence nor even remotely to be anticipated.

The revenue thus referred to may come to the Commonwealth from inheritance tax payment made under the provisions of and through the operation of the United States Revenue Act of 1926, and the Act of May 7, 1927, P. L. 359, supplementing the Inheritance Tax Act of 1919, P. L. 921. The constitutionality of the 1927 act remained in doubt until last Monday when the Chief Justice of our Supreme Court, in a well considered and profoundly reasoned opinion, upheld that act in affirming the decision of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia county in the estate of Emma C. Knowles.

The Federal Government, by the Revenue Act of 1926, has declared it to be the national policy that the net value of all estates in excess of $100,000 (that amount being exempt; Section 303 (a) 4-44 Stat. 72 U. S. C. A., Tit. 26, Sec. 1095) shall, before distribution to the persons entitled thereto, be reduced by certain percentages progressively levied as succession taxes, but it is willing that the several states should indirectly profit by this system. To that end the Federal statute, in effect, provides that in all instances where the State imposes inheritance taxes the Federal Government will allow to those paying such local inheritance taxes the amount thereof up to a sum equal to eighty per cent. of its own inheritance taxes, retaining the right to collect only so much of the Federal tax as may exceed the sum thus relinquished. This is a method of distributing to the several states moneys collectable by the National Government from their taxables, and the provision in question is not intended to either burden or benefit the taxpayer. Wherever the State does not see fit to take advantage of the situation thus created, the National Government will collect the entire 100% of its assessed Federal inheritance taxes. When this Federal Revenue Act, with its extraordinary provisions which gives the States an opportunity to increase their own revenue—without cost to those who pay the taxes—by passing legislation pursuant to it, became effective the Legislature of Pennsylvania, to avail the Commonwealth of the provision in question, supplemented the Inheritance Tax Act of June 20, 1919, P. L. 521, by the act of May 7, 1927, P. L. 859. The constitutionality of the latter statute having thus been sustained, the Commonwealth may with reasonable certainty expect to receive revenues from this source.

Realizing the very great importance of this decision to the Commonwealth, your committee many weeks ago began a study of the records in the office of the Auditor General relating to estates to which the act of 1927 would be applicable. Careful computations were made of the revenue that the Commonwealth would have received from this source for a period of five years ending 1928, and from this result an average annual return was ascertained.

Through the receipt of this revenue, the deficit first discussed will thus be reduced from $7,661,377 to $4,661,377. This figure does not, however, include the added burden that will be imposed upon the treasury through the enactment into law of the pending measures already mentioned. If these bills become law, the situation will be as follows:

Indicated deficit	$4,661,377
Loss of Revenue by repeal of anthracite coal tax act (Jones Bill)	12,500,000
Deficit	$17,161,377
or if the coal tax act is repealed by the Heaton Bill, which will cause a loss of revenue of	6,250,000
the deficit will then be	$10,911,377

The anticipated revenue for the next biennium may be further increased by the provisions of the act, of 1927 (supra) on account of inheritance taxes which will be claimed by the State from the estates of Rodman Wanamaker and Philip S. Dupont.

There may become due the Commonwealth from these estates, in addition to the usual tax, the following sums: from the Wanamaker estate $6,510,000 and from the Dupont estate about $400,000 or a total of $6,910,000. Although the parties interested in the first mentioned estate may, because of the very great sum involved, resist the payment by litigation, it is believed that the Commonwealth will ultimately be awarded the sum claimed. Delays in litigation may, however, postpone the date of payment beyond the close of the biennium under consideration. Assuming that the payment will be made during the next biennium, the deficit of $17,166,377 will be adjusted to $10,251,377; and the alternative deficit of $10,911,377 will be adjusted to $4,001,377.

Your committee believes itself obligated to State finally (notwithstanding the lengthy discussion of anticipated new revenue under Act of 1927 and Federal Estate Acts),—to point to you and the Chief Executive that this matter is still open and subject to further litigation, the result of which might ultimately deprive the Commonwealth of the revenue anticipated from this source.

MEMORANDUM SHOWING ADDITIONAL REVENUE THAT MAY BE EXPECTED IN BIENNIUM 1929-31 UNDER THE 80 PER CENT. PROVISIONS OF THE FEDERAL ESTATE TAX LAW.

A comprehensive and detailed investigation of all estates of $500,000 or over during the five-year period 1924 to 1928, inclusive, has been made in order to determine what additional revenue may be expected during the biennium 1929-31, under the 80 per cent. provision of the Federal Estate Tax Law, on the basis of past experience. The complete computations are set forth in separate tables but the summarized results are as follows:

Additional annual revenue from
Allegheny County (4 year basis)	$503,419.59
Chester County (4 year basis)	18,701.37
Montgomery County (4 year basis)	360,530.43
All other counties (5 year basis)	1,465,493.77
Total (annual)	$2,353,145.19
Total for biennium	4,706,290.38

The above figures exclude the Rodman Wanamaker estate, which will yield approximately the following additional revenue:

Pennsylvania tax at 2% (on $52,000,000)	$1,040,000
Pennsylvania tax at 10% (on $2,100,000)	210,000
Total inheritance taxes payable in Pa.	1,250,000
Federal estate tax on Wanamaker Estate	9,700,000
80% of Federal tax	7,760,000
Less taxes in Pennsylvania	1,250,000
Additional revenue on Wanamaker Estate	6,510,000

If the above taxes on the Wanamaker Estate are paid during the biennium 1929-31, as they should be, the total additional revenue to be expected during the biennium 1929-31 may be set down as follows

Rodman Wanamaker Estate	$6,510,000
Philip S. Dupont Estate ($300,000 to $300,000 additional)—approximately	400,000
All other estates, approximately	4,700,000
Total	$11,610,000

Gentlemen, we are reminded that four years ago this body passed resolutions requiring bond issues in the amount of $133,000,000. Two years ago those of the Senators who are here now voted for resolutions again providing for bond issues in the amount of $133,000,000. Those bond issues, as you all know, were to comprise appropriations to the Welfare Department, in the amount of $50,000,000, the Forestry Department, in the amount of $25,000,000, the Highway Department in the amount of $50,000,000, to State College, in the amount of $8,000,000, and to armories, in the amount of $5,000,000.

Four years ago, and again two years ago, we, as members of this Legislature, thought that it was necessary to bond the State in these amounts. Last fall, previous to the November election, you know that the word went around that we would have funds enough, we did not need these bond issues; that we could adequately and completely finance these worthwhile objects without bond issue. And I want to say in this connection, Mr. President, that I have stood here always, since the first two bond issues for road purposes were passed, and have opposed the State of Pennsylvania's bonding itself for further money, believing that our State was great enough and resourceful enough to adopt the method of paying as we go. I have not changed my mind in that regard, but I ask you gentlemen of the Senate—after we have said to these people that no bond issue was needed, and that these worthwhile objects were taken care of, not half way but completely, adequately, as much so as they would have been if bond issues had been passed,—if it is not our business to see that they are taken care of.

We are discussing here to-night the repeal of revenues of this Commonwealth. We are advocating the repeal of the anthracite tonnage tax; and, as I have said, this tax provides the third largest source of revenue in our Commonwealth. You have your capital stock tax; you have your inheritance tax; and you have your coal tax,—the three largest sources of revenue.

Mr. President, I am opposed to all taxes. If I could do it, I would amend this bill,—if I had not the interest of the State at heart—and I would repeal the anthracite coal tax, I would repeal the inheritance tax, I would repeal—on Senator Woodward's account—the four mill personal property tax; I would repeal all these objectionable taxes. My experience has been that I do not like taxes at all. It has been my misfortune for a good many years to spend two or three months before taxpaying time getting together enough money to pay my tax and take my discount. So, I am speaking to you as one who is opposed to all taxes,—except for the one condition: that we cannot handle this State of ours without revenue; and it is for the good that comes from it, the necessity of having the taxes, that I am supporting them.

Mr. President, it seems to me that there is some inconsistency in asking for the repeal of a tax that brings in $12,500,000 of revenue,—and mind you I do not care whether it is repealed by the Heaton Bill or by the Jones bill, you are only prolonging the agony; repeal it all at once and get rid of it as soon as you can; but it comes to me that we have to meet the situation.

A few years ago there was a candidate who came into this State and made his campaign on the fact that the State was bankrupt, that we had a deficit, that we were not able to pay our bills; and I say to the gentlemen of this Senate that I do not want to see again such a condition that some candidate will come in and have to make a campaign upon a deficit. It does not seem to me that we should invite that thing; but it is liable to come if we do not look out.

I am no prophet,—I do not stand as any such thing; but my guess is that when the Legislature convenes here two years from now and four years from now there will be the greatest jam you ever saw for new revenue. I do not know where you are going to get it, where it will be placed easier than it is now, whether you will want a State tax on real estate, whether you will want an income tax or a tax on manufacturers; I do not know where you are going to turn.

It was my misfortune to be in here when we put on this anthracite coal tax; also when we put on the tax which Governor Brumbaugh approved with a great deal of regret, the inheritance tax. They are all burdensome, but I ask you, if we can repeal, without consideration, this tax that brings in revenue to the amount of $12,500,000, where are you going to suggest that the revenue is coming from when we meet again to provide revenue?

I just wanted to call your attention to what seems to me to be strange inconsistency,—that this Legislature of ours at the time when we are repealing $12,500,000 of revenue, will be raising the gasoline tax, raising the drivers' license fees, raising the licence fees on buses and trucks. Let me say to you that I am for that program,—for the very reason that it is producing something, it seems to me, that is worthwhile for this Commonwealth of ours.

My people back home are all opposed to this increase in the gasoline tax and all these others; but I forget about the fact of their opposition when I think of the great good that I consider it is going to do this Commonwealth.

And gentleman of this Senate, I forget about the coal industry, I forget about the oil industry, when I think what it means if these taxes are repealed.

I oppose the repeal of the anthracite tax because I believe this State needs that revenue in order to properly function.

Just a moment more. Some of my good friends from the anthracite section and some other places told you how burdensome this eight-cent tonnage tax is, how much of a nuisance tax it is, how much it has crippled the coal business. I do not know but what it has. But many times the thought has come to me,—and I know it has to others—whether the operators and the miners themselves were not responsible to some extent for the condition they are in there; whether the strikers did not teach the people to use substitutes—coke, oil, gas, electricity, soft coal and all those other things; whether they are not themselves to blame, I ask you again.

And I would like to carry out this comparison. How burdensome can 8c a ton be? That is a natural industrial tax placed locally on all these things,—the same as the oil industry has to contend with. Some think the oil industry is not taxed, that the gas industry is not taxed Let us take your figures just a moment. We say that beside paying on every barrel of oil your valuation has increased, and out of that you are paying State, county, school, road and the county for the poor fund, for all the taxes, the same as you do on coal land,—notice what we are doing: We are putting a 4 cent tax on gasoline. Suppose the retailer sells without the tax—

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin, says we are imposing a tax of 4 cents on gasoline. Can he state that positively?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, we are proposing to make a tax of 4 cents a gallon. I just wanted to show where the burden is, for a moment. Four cents a gallon on gasoline that the retailer has paid 20 cents a gallon for. For one dollar he would have five gallons. Adding the tax of 4 cents a gallon, it would amount to 20 cents on one dollar's worth of gasoline. That would be 20 per cent. of what the retailer would be receiving for the gasoline.

On the other hand, in the coal industry, you are paying out a little over five mills on the dollar.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Baldwin.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, with very great pleasure.

Mr. GELDER. I would like to ask the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Baldwin, if we are imposing a tax on gasoline manufactured in Pennsylvania and sold in Pennsylvania, or whether we are imposing it on gasoline manufactured in Pennsylvania and sold outside of the State?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, the Senator from Susquehanna, Mr. Gelder, is misunderstanding the tax. As far as Pennsylvania is concerned our jurisdiction does not go outside of Pennsylvania, as the Senator must know. But in carrying out that comparison this is what you are doing in coal,—I want you to pay a little attention to this,—you are paying five mills on the dollar, whereas with a tax of 4 cents a gallon on gasoline you are paying 20 cents on the dollar, and that figures forty times as much on gasoline as on the coal. Figure it for yourselves, if you do not think it is so. Are we going to pay it?

Gentlemen of this Senate, I have not any interest in this matter except one, and that is, the interest of the State. I know what my people think back home of increased gasoline tax and all that kind of thing; but, as I say, I am forgetting about it except as to what it is going to bring to them, what it is going to accomplish and all that; and I cannot help thinking that when we attack this coal tax,—and let me call your attention further, on the coal tax we are shedding tears and saying our business is being ruined on account of this 8 cent coal tax, and yet about 80 per cent. of it is being paid outside of the State. Why should we shed tears for those outside of the State? Our industry is—

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, pardon me but since the anthracite tax has been put on we are sending only about 30 per cent. outside of the State, not 80.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I am not claiming to know the exact figures, but I think you will find out they are selling a great quantity of their coal outside of the State.

But you gentlemen of the Senate have borne patiently with me, and you know this situation just as well as I do; and, as I said in the beginning, I am not in here to attempt to influence any Senator in his vote; but I would like to have you see this situation, as I consider it, in its true light.

I know very well that if a deficit is created here we are going to have trouble in the future; and I say, further, that when this Legislature, on any measure—gentlemen, it is not only on this measure—when we pass out of this Senate any bill that has the approval of this Senate it shows that the Senate is in favor of it; and the Governor, on the other end of the Capitol has the right to say, as he does say, "The House and the Senate are for it." If we pass it we are approving it. And I want to be understood just in regard to one vote, and that vote is my own, which I want to cast in accordance with my best judgment and what I most earnestly consider to be to the best interest of this great Commonwealth of ours.

Mr. SORDONI. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I am a new member of this body, but I should like to answer, to the best of my ability, some of the statements—and misstatements, if I may be permitted to say such a thing, that have come from the Senator from Potter county, Mr. Baldwin. This is the first time I have been on my feet during my term as Senator, but I feel constrained to take the floor because of the vital importance of this Anthracite Coal Tax Repeal Bill to our community and, in fact, to the entire State

The repeal of the anthracite coal tax bears no relation to the proposed four-cent gasoline tax. The former, as you know, goes to the general fund, while the latter is purely for the Highway Department. Each is a separate and distinct tax, and belongs to its own department of our State Government.

The fact that such a large amount of Pennsylvania anthracite is shipped outside of our State naturally compels the people of other States to pay this tax; and while the amount of the tax on each tone is not so great as to be prohibitive, the natural resentment against what is referred to in other States as an "export tax," is such that in a number of States they have absolutely boycotted Pennsylvania anthracite coal. I have been told that in the State of Massachusetts they passed a law—later declared unconstitutional—prohibiting the use of Pennsylvania anthracite coal in any public building in the state, due to this tax. The repeal of this tax will do away with the greatest piece of propaganda now being used by the manufacturers and dealers in anthracite substitutes.

As you all know, the anthracite coal tax was passed in 1921 as an emergency measure. At the time it was passed the cash balance of the Commonwealth was about $3,000. The last fiscal statement shows a cash balance in the State Treasury of approximately $35,000,000, indicating conclusively that the emergency no longer exists and that the tax should be repealed.

In further support of the contention that the State is well able to repeal this tax we have the anticipated increase of ordinary revenue and the tremendous increase in inheritance taxes and other items of income revealed during the present session of the Legislature.

The repeal of this tax is an economic necessity. When it was passed anthracite coal was considered a necessity, but today anthracite coal is in keen competition with other fuels, and the industry has undergone a serious depression during the last three years.

The normal production of anthracite coal is 80,000,000 tons per year. In 1926 there were 75,000,000 tons produced, in 1927 it dropped to 71,000,000 tons, and in 1928 it was only 63,000,000 tons. With this reduction in tonnage there has been withdrawn from the ordinary business channels of the district approximately $40,000,000,—this during the last two years, because of the current depression. The industry has failed to buy supplies, during the last two years, that would amount to $20,000,000.

This depression has been reflected throughout the entire State, but more especially in the eastern section, and particularly in Philadelphia. Local business of all kinds is materialy reduced in volume. Miners and their families are in distress. Real estate is at a standstill, and the whole economic structure of our community is topsy-turvy.

The people of the anthracite region are asking for this repeal because it means their economic preservation; and the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania cannot afford to be charged, either directly or indirectly, with the hindering, retarding or ruining of the anthracite industry or any other industry within its borders.

Furthermore, this tax on anthracite, instead of producing a wholesome income to the State, is working the exact opposite. The money that the State receives through this tax is only a portion of the vast sum it would otherwise receive, through other taxes,—direct and indirect,—were the anthracite industry on the splendid basis of prosperity it once enjoyed. The tax can be repealed in view of the present balance in the treasury and the anticipated income, without any extra taxation whatsoever; the Governor has answered the statement of the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, and says he is prepared to give proper consideration to repeal and wants the bill to come to him.

Gentlemen of the Senate, this is a business proposition, not a matter of politics. At the present time we have an appropriation before this Senate of $4,000,000 for building a new Eastern Penitentiary. There is no question in my mind that this penitentiary is needed, but this State does not need it so badly that it must throttle our anthracite industry in order to raise the money for this purpose. Nor do we so badly need the $11,000,000 that have ben appropriated for new buildings at Harrisburg that we must throttle the anthracite industry in order to raise this amount.

The Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin, says the people of our State refused to pass some bond issues. This is very true, but the people of our Commonwealth have no desire to have improvements in the State at large provided for at the cost of the annihilation of the anthracite industry,—an industry that at the present time has a capital investment of $950,000,000, employs more than 158,000 men, and that pays exactly 35 per cent. of its net income in taxes. And we need not talk about bond issues when we have ample funds before us.

Furthermore, gentlemen of the Senate, let me say to you that while you may think this tax is a trifling amount on each ton of coal, it is not the amount of tax that hurts, but it is the application of it in States other than Pennsylvania. You remember that the Revolutionary War was caused by an unjust tax on tea imposed by King George III of England; and it was the colonists living in Boston who took the law into their own hands and had the celebrated Boston Tea Party. The result of that tea party was the forming of a new nation, the United States of America.

And the same spirit that actuated the New England Colonists of that day now animates their descendants, so that, as I have said, Pennsylvania anthracite coal is discriminated against in that section due to this tax, which they consider unjust.

Gentlemen of the Senate, we cannot afford to throttle this great anthracite coal industry in Pennsylvania, nor the business that is dependent upon it; and I ask you, in all fairness, to vote for the passage of this repeal bill.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, I dare say these men from the coal regions will be a little surprised to have someone from Philadelphia get up and speak in favor of the repeal, but I have somewhat of a selfish interest in the matter, myself. If the Senators who read their bibles will recall the 57th verse of the 13th chapter of St. Luke they will recall it is to the effect that a prophet is not without honor save in his own country; and when Senator Baldwin attempts to prophesy what is going to happen two years from now I am afraid that passage of the scripture may apply to him.

Now, I want to make a little prophecy myself. Figures are always dry, and I hate to have to refer to them; but I am going to just for a brief moment. Figures are also beautiful. If in need of a position, and if Mrs. Kyle, our City Statistician should lose her position or die, I think that with this gift at figures we might use the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin, as our Statistician in Philadelphia.

My prophecy is that this alleged $13,000,000 deficit which is going to come by reason of the repeal of this coal tax will develop into a $21,000,000 surplus, such as we have had in this biennium. I do not think it is so much a question of the amount of the tax; it is, as the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni, has said, the psychological effect of this tax.

I also want to quote just a few figures to show why we from Philadelphia are supporting this bill. In the first place, I am given to understand that

Products of the City of Philadelphia are sold and shipped into the ANTHRACITE REGIONS, annually, to the amount of	$101,000,000
Visitors from the ANTHRACITE REGIONS to Philadelphia by trains and automobiles spend in Philadelphia annually	10,000,000
Postal clearings from the ANTHRACITE REGIONS to Philadelphia amount annually to	12,000,000

The 176 banks in the ANTHRACITE REGIONS carry average daily deposits in the Philadelphia Banks of	31,475,312
The average yearly clearance to and from Anthracite Regions Banks to Philadelphia Banks is—I would ask Senator Baldwin to read these figures—it looks like two billion, eight hundred fourteen million, eight hundred thousand dollars	2,814,800,000

Therefore, anyone who has given study to the situation concerning the anthracite region realizes that if the City of Philadelphia is to continue to get this amount of business from that section we must have a healthy condition in the anthracite region, and I believe that the psychology of the repeal of this tax will help a whole lot.

The one personal, selfish interest I have is this: Mrs. Frazier is always complaining about a smudge on her nose when she goes out. There is an oil burner just above us, on Pine Street; and I am afraid that we who live on Pine Street are going to continue to have oil smudges if we do not help the anthracite district. I understand there is to be an oil burner installed to the east of us also, and pretty soon Mrs. Frazier will not be able to get out of the house. Therefore, I am going to vote for this bill.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, I hope this discussion will not develop into a filibuster. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, who is chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means in the House, devoted a lot of time, and I think, went to a lot of expense to get that statement that Senator Baldwin has read to us to-night. I, too, can read volumes; but the time is getting late and we have a calendar of 48 pages, and I will try to be as brief as possible.

The only argument against the repeal of the anthracite tax—in 1923, in 1925 and in 1927—has been that the State needed the revenue during this period the State has passed from financial stringency to financial abundance, due to wise, economical administration of public affairs, the efficiency of the fiscal officers for the State on the eve of the meeting of the General Assembly in 1929 the State Treasurer, who was Auditor General for four years, and State Treasurer almost an equal time, and is therefore qualified to speak with peculiar authority on this subject, made the following statement:

"At the expiration of eight years' service, four years as Auditor General and a trifle less than four years as State Treasurer, I cannot help contrasting the financial condition of the Commonwealth with that of seven years ago. On August 1, 1922, we had slightly more than $300,000 in the General Fund, with more than $18,000,000 of unpaid bills. Tomorrow (that means to-day) the Legislature meets with all current bills paid and a balance in the Treasury of approximately $35,000,000."

He refers also to the balance in the General Fund of the State at the end of each fiscal year of the last decade, as follows: 1919, $5,000,000; 1920, $2,000,000; 1921, $8,000,000. This is the year that Governor Sproul needed the money to pay the extra amount of money on account of the Edmonds Bill, to pay the school teachers. 1922, $233,000; 1923, $31,000; 1924, $3,300,000; 1925, $4,600,000; 1926, $12,723,000; 1927, $20,972,000. At the end of the fiscal year, May 31, 1928, $35,366,000.

Why can we not repeal this tax? I can go on and give you more figures. One of the foremost organizations, civic organizations, in Pennsylvania is the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce. At a regular meeting on January 31, 1929, the following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, The stringency in State finances no longer exists which led to the imposition of the State tonnage tax on anthracite coal and blocked the efforts for its repeal; and

Whereas, The Commonwealth can now spare the proceeds of this tax without substituting some other source of revenue, provided due restraint is shown in appropriating the treasury surplus and prospective increases in State revenues; and

Whereas, The physical effect of the tax is to curtail the consumption of anthracite coal in out-of-the-state markets where the levy is regarded as an export tax selfishly imposed for the benefit of general government in Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, The anthracite industry in Pennsylvania, which is a basic one, not only bears a very heavy burden of State and local taxes, but is the only natural resource industry of the state paying a severance tax, therefore be it

Resolved, That the State Chamber of Commerce in annual convention assembled favors repeal by the 1929 legislature of the 1½ per cent, advalorem state tax on anthracite coal."

Mr. President, in conclusion I ask that the Senate vote unanimously for this Senate Bill No. 9.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I have been elected a member of the Senate Anthracite Coal Club, and they will allow me four minutes,—well, three minutes. If you ask the Auditor General what industries are most backward in paying their taxes he will tell you it is the coal industry,—not because they are worse than other corporations but because they are hard up.

If you will look at Section 1 of Article IX of the Constitution of Pennsylvania you will find "All taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax, * * *" As a matter of fact, they are very far from uniform. The ratio of net profits in relation to the tax is from 33 per cent, where they pay one-third the amount of net profits in taxes, to 2 per cent.—paid by the newspapers, with manufacturers paying 5 per cent. and the other corporations 9 per cent. As against that you have over 33 per cent. from the anthracite tax; and therefore it is easy enough to prove that anthracite has been made the goat.

In this biennium we are appropriating $6,000,000 to State-aid hospitals. That is, if not exactly the same, pretty nearly the same that the State will lose by the Heaton Bill, $6,000,000. Whatever your opinions may be as to State-aid institutions—hospitals—my personal opinion is that is is a mistake to collect money from the anthracite coal industry and pay it over to State-aid hospitals to the amount of six millions of dollars.

Shall the bill pass finally?

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINGRATNER. Mr. President, I desire to make a statement to the Senate regarding this bill. I have received numerous letters and telegrams from plumbers, supply manufacturers and founders urging the passage of this bill, stating as a reason that it was necessary to establish a code for plumbing, to cover not only the cities but the entire Commonwealth; and this is in the interest of the public health.

Mr. President, I intend to vote for this bill, and I want to state to the Senate, so that I may keep faith with my constituents back home who think it covers that, that this bill covers cities, boroughs and first-class townships, and that my constituents back home who have been urging me and telegraphing me about this bill, who are interested in second-class townships, are not covered by this bill at all.

I make this statement because it has been represented to the master plumbers and the journeyman plumbers of my district that this was a general plumbing code that covers not only the cities, boroughs and first-class townships but also second-class townships,—which is not the fact.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?
